pages _____, filed with the demand
pages _____, filed with the letter of _____
- ☐ the claims:
pages _____, as originally filed
pages _____, as amended (together with any statement under Article 19
pages _____, filed with the demand
pages _____, filed with the letter of _____
- ☐ the drawings:
pages _____, as originally filed
pages _____, filed with the demand
pages _____, filed with the letter of _____
- ☐ the sequence listing part of the description:
pages _____, as originally filed
pages _____, filed with the demand
pages _____, filed with the letter of _____

2. With regard to the language, all the elements marked above were available or furnished to this Authority in the language in which the international application was filed, unless otherwise indicated under this item.

These elements were available or furnished to this Authority in the following language _____ which is:

- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international search (under Rule 23.1(b)).
- ☐ the language of publication of the international application (under Rule 48.3(b)).
- ☐ the language of the translation furnished for the purposes of international preliminary examination (under Rule 55.2 and/or 55.3).

3. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application, the international preliminary examination was carried out on the basis of the sequence listing:

- ☐ contained in the international application in written form.
- ☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.
- ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority in written form.
- ☒ furnished subsequently to this Authority in computer readable form.
- ☐ The statement that the subsequently furnished written sequence listing does not go beyond the disclosure in the international application as filed has been furnished.
- ☒ The statement that the information recorded in computer readable form is identical to the written sequence listing has been furnished.

4. ☐ The amendments have resulted in the cancellation of:

- ☐ the description, pages _____
- ☐ the claims, Nos. _____
- ☐ the drawings, sheets/fig _____

5. ☐ This report has been established as if (some of) the amendments had not been made, since they have been considered to go beyond the disclosure as filed, as indicated in the Supplemental Box (Rule 70.2(c)).

V. Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims	3, 5, -8	YES
	Claims	1-2, 4	NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims		YES
	Claims	1-8	NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-8	YES
	Claims		NO

2. Citations and explanations

Claims 1-2 and 4 are not novel because they are disclosed in Document 1 cited in the international search report (Journal of Virology (1997), Vol. 71, No. 11, pp. 8416-8428). Document 1 indicates a method for producing RNA-dependent RNA polymerase by synthesis in host cells in the form of a fusion protein of a peptide which possibly has human hepatitis C virus RNA-dependent RNA polymerase activity and a second polypeptide.

Claims 3 and 5-8 do not involve an inventive step in the light of Document 1 and Document 2 (JP, 9-299079, A) and Document 3 (WO, 95/28243, A) cited in the international search report. Above Documents 2 and 3 mention the use of glutathione S-transferase as the second polypeptide for producing a recombinant protein in the form of a fusion protein. It would be easy for a person skilled in the art in producing a useful protein as a genetically engineered fusion protein, as in Claims 3 and 5-8, to use glutathione S-transferase as the 2nd peptide in the method described in above Document 1, since it is mentioned in above Documents 2-3 as a 2nd peptide for producing a useful protein by a similar method.
